Forecast For West Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Sunday 23 May 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Rain, at times heavy through evening. Showers during Monday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Through the evening rain, at times heavy and gusty will gradually clear east from the region. Behind, skies turning clearer with a few scattered showers through the night. Minimum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Monday:
A largely dry start but with showers, locally heavy and thundery developing from the south during morning. Showers continuing into the afternoon with sunny spells between. Turning clearer through evening. Maximum temperature 13 deg C (55 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Sunny spells and scattered showers, locally heavy on Tuesday. Largely dry and bright on Wednesday, but perhaps a few showers. Sunny spells and dry on Thursday. Temperatures gradually becoming warmer.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.